Natural Characteristic: Participation in larger order Inheritance: Basis of definite conduct across generations

Physical order has innateness of existence. The bio-order has innateness of existence and growth. The human order has innateness of existence and growth at the level of the body and innateness of will to live with continuous happiness in the self. A human can understand innateness, natural characteristics, participation in a larger order with right understanding, perseverance; bravery, generosity, kindness, Beneficence and compassion are my participation in a larger order. In the human-human relationship, the feeling of trust, respect, care etc. is my natural participation in my relationship as a human being. So, it is important to understand the natural characteristics, i.e., participation in a larger order and innateness, i.e., to live with continuous happiness. The inheritance of a human being is maintained through education and sanskar. Whatever education and sanskar is given to the next generation becomes the basis of conduct of the next generation

Q. 2a The sources of continuous happiness are

1. Right understanding in the self
2. Right feeling and right thought in the self

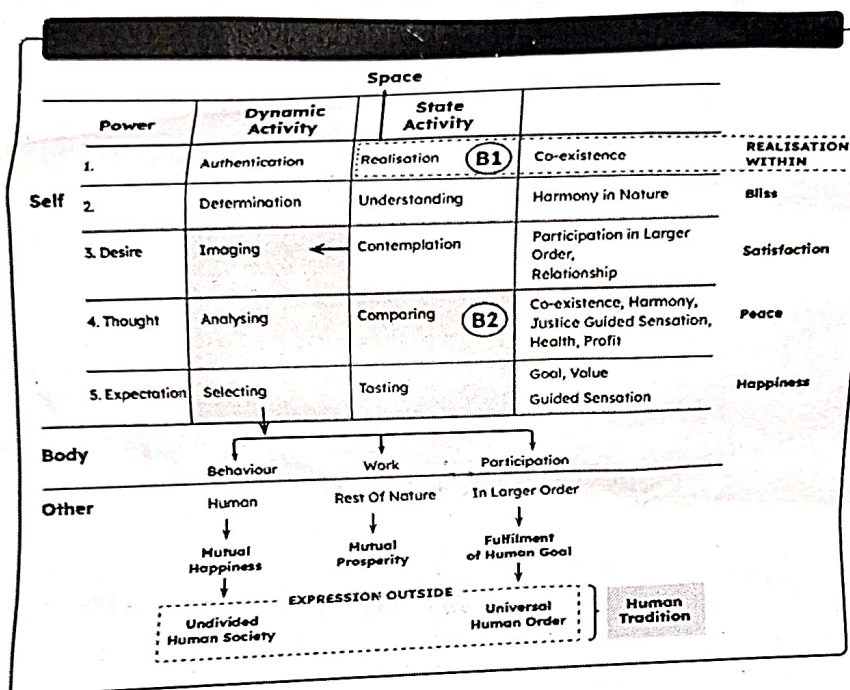

Right understanding means - understanding of relationship, harmony and co-existence at all levels of being, at the level of existence. right understanding, leads to state of self-organization ('Swatantrata'). Ex: Facilitating water to passer-by

Sources of Temporary Happiness

	Sources of temporary happiness or excitement: 1. One source is through feelings from others like the feeling of respect, affection, gratitude. We are thinking in terms of getting the feelings from others, so that we can be in a state of harmony and happiness within. 2. The other source is through sensation from the body. We may be trying to get happiness through some sensation from the body like sensation of sound, touch, form, taste, smell. Ex: some good taste of sweet makes me happy etc.
2b	Three bases of selecting, tasting: 1. Goal based: on the basis of human goal 2. Value based: on the basis of justice in relationship 3. Sensation based: on the basis of sensation When mother cooks food, she takes care of food which is conducive to our health as well as tasty, part of fulfilment of relationship with her child, feeling the care	5
Q.3	I am the Seer, Doer, Enjoyer (Experiencer). I use the body as an instrument for fulfilment of all activities. In the process of seeing, the Body is used as an instrument. Doer” means the one that does, who takes decision to and one that experiences happiness / unhappiness. Human being is co-existence of self and body, self being the conscious entity and body being the material entity. Self is central to human existence as it is the seer, doer and enjoyer (experiencer) and the body is just used as an instrument in the process. The need of the self is continuous happiness which is ensured by understanding and living in harmony at all the four levels: as an individual, as a member of family, as a member of society and as a unit in nature/existence. The understanding and feeling of harmony is to be ensured in the self and not the body. The body acts only as an instrument to understand and live in harmony. The transaction between self and body takes place only in the form of information, the decision being made every time by the self.	10
Q.4	Behaviour, work and participation in the larger order, these are also going to be definite and guided by co-existence, harmony and relationships. This naturally expresses in human conduct as	10 behaviour leading to mutual happiness, work leading to mutual prosperity and participation in the larger order leading to universal human order. When we expand behaviour in this way with other human beings, it gives rise to an undivided human society where we can see my relationship with everyone. Gradually, it can also, include the other units of the nature too. Similarly, with participation in the larger order based on the right understanding, starting from the family order, gradually it will expand it to the whole world family order. With that, we will be able to materialise the Universal Human Order of right understanding on human conduct

Q.5 When the self has awakened to the higher activities, i.e., contemplation, understanding, and realization, then these awakened activities are guiding the lower activities of the self like comparing and tasting. Once that state is achieved lower activities are getting modified, then contemplation becomes the basis of my desire, my imaging and this is guiding my thought and expectation, the self is in the state of harmony with this, whenever we interact with the other person, we will always interact on the basis of these naturally accepted feelings, and if I do that, it leads to mutual happiness, mutual prosperity and fulfilment of human goal and ultimately, to the undivided human society and universal human order. At the level of understanding this harmony will show up as BLISS; at the level of contemplation, it will show up as SATISFACTION; at the level of comparing-analyzing it will show up as PEACE and at the level of selecting-tasting it will show up as HAPPINESS. These states of
